Who am I

I'm looking for new challenges in my professional life and I saw that you are looking for a new Frontend developer.

Your company seems very interesting and the role as a Frontend developer feels right for me with my knowledge and experience.

I am a person who is cruel on problem solving and has very good knowledge of web and web development.

For the past years I have been employed as Frondend Designer / Teamleader.

I am used to working directly with customers and at high pace daily. As a leader, I have taken care of the design / development department at Intendit. A group of 5 extremely talented designers / developers.
